2014 Congressional Voting Record

THE 113TH CONGRESS, 2ND SESSION: CONGRESS EARNS ALL TIME LOW APPROVAL RATING OF 9%

Bad bills stalled in 2014 by a divided Congress—and how your members of Congress voted on them—are well worth studying, since much of that destructive legislation will be successfully reintroduced in 2015 now that Capitol Hill is under unified Republican control.

Last year a Democratic Senate majority blocked scores of unwise measures originated in the GOP-run House, including 50 attempts to repeal all or parts of the Affordable Care Act (Obamacare), the gutting of environmental and labor laws, cuts to child nutrition programs, and attacks on reproductive rights.

As in all recent years, tax and spending decisions were key dividers between Congressional liberals and conservatives in 2014. Last year, however, the GOP not only tried, as usual, to defund vital programs and reward their corporate friends with more tax cuts, but attack the very budget process itself.

First, under the deceptively appealing name of “dynamic scoring,” House Republicans passed legislation that would minimize the cost of proposed tax cuts by presuming that they would expand the economy and forcing the government’s budget experts to include in their official budget analyses a guess of how much new tax revenue that presumed expansion would generate. Proof that this was simply a way of passing more tax cuts for the wealthy and corporations, and not a quest for more accurate budget forecasts, was that spending increases—the mirror image of tax reductions—were not to be measured in the same “dynamic” way, even though studies have shown that increased public investments usually help the economy more than do lower taxes. In short, “dynamic scoring” is just another incarnation of what the first President Bush dubbed “Voodoo Economics.”

The GOP House also moved to exempt certain tax cuts from “pay as you go” (PAYGO) rules that require new spending or tax cuts to be paid for through reduced spending elsewhere or an increase in other taxes. Unsurprisingly, the proposed exemptions overwhelmingly benefitted wealthy households and multinational corporations.

Conservatives continued to mask destructive legislation with uplifting titles. Who, for instance, could be against the “Save American Workers Act of 2014”? The GOP has played this Orwellian name game for years—the harm is always hidden in the bill’s text. The legislation cited above, for example, far from saving American workers would actually encourage employers to cut their hours and make it harder for them to get health insurance. Other misleading bill titles from last year include the “Consumer Financial Freedom and Washington Accountability Act,” which in fact would free consumers to be defrauded; and “The Reduce Regulatory Burdens Act of 2014,” which would burden all of us with dirtier air and water, more dangerous products and a less stable financial system.

Beyond blocking harmful House legislation, the Senate Democratic majority was largely prevented from doing the people’s business by the body’s arcane and anti-democratic rules. The one notable exception to that record of frustration was a significant change made to the rules themselves: filibusters were eliminated on executive appointments, except to the Supreme Court. As a result, the Administration was able to fill more than 30 presidential positions (including ambassadorships intended for nonpartisan Foreign Service officers) that lacked the 60 votes previously needed to end debate and would otherwise have remained vacant. The old filibuster rule would also have left empty more than 60 seats on Federal district and appellate courts, seriously jeopardizing the administration of justice had Majority Leader Harry Reid not pushed through the reform. .

Conservatives continued to mask destructive legislation with uplifting titles. Who, for instance, could be against the “Save American Workers Act of 2014”?

But the old 60-vote requirement to invoke cloture on legislation remained in force, so many useful measures were doomed to failure even though supported by a majority of the Senate. It was impossible to pass legislation that would create American jobs, boost wages, improve working conditions, extend unemployment insurance for long-term unemployed, repair the damage of the Supreme Court’s Citizens United decision, refinance student loans, and rein in intrusive data-collection by America’s intelligence community.

There were some bipartisan legislative achievements, but not happy ones. Republicans joined forces with “Wall Street Democrats” to extend corporate tax loopholes, such as accelerated depreciation and “research” deductions that haven’t historically promoted significant research that leads to innovation and productivity gains. This bill of course had the warm and fuzzy name of “The Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014”.

Finally, there is one issue that many talk and no one takes action on. No, not the weather. We mean inequality. The only vote in the 113th Congress that would have constituted real action to combat inequality was the Progressive Budget, introduced and supported by the Congressional Progressive Caucus. The measure addressed both taxes and spending on infrastructure, which we call Investing in America. It only received 89 votes. We’ll be watching to see how many Democrats in the 114th Congress introduce significant legislation to combat income and wealth inequality: not just raising the minimum wage, but major action to restore the Estate Tax, tax all income alike (capital gains and dividends like income from work), increase the top marginal tax rate, close corporate tax loopholes, fund the IRS so it can catch tax evaders, and strengthen labor unions, necessary to shift economic and political power from the 1 percent to the 99 percent.

You will see below this year there were only 9 ADA “Heroes” in the House and 1 in the Senate. We suggest you also note that in the House there were 28 scoring 95%, nearly perfect -- sometimes just due to one absence. In the Senate there were 7 scoring 95%, nearly perfect, again sometimes due to one absence. Good liberals all. At the other end of the spectrum, there were 64 scoring 5% in the House -- nearly neanderthal, and 15 scoring 5% in the Senate.

This voting record is offered only as a guide in judging the legislative performance of Members of Congress, and has several inherent limitations. It does not measure a legislator's work in committees. It does not reflect the failure of Congress to deal with major issues, or the individual's degree of responsibility. Nor does it reflect a legislator's lifetime of work.

The methodology of the ADA Voting Record calls for Members who miss a vote, for whatever reason, to be penalized in their final score. Therefore, a Member who agreed with ADA's position on 19 votes but was absent on the 20th would receive a score of 95%.
